Important Decision.—William Henderson vs.
The State of Ohio—in Error.—This was the case for kidnapping Jerry Phinney, at Franklinton, some ten months since, and which has given rise to no small degree of excitement. Henderson was the Justice of the Peace, and was indicted with Armitage and others, in Franklin Common Pleas, and tried at the Special Term, in September, for the alleged kidnapping, he was convicted, and the others acquitted. The case came before the Supreme Court in banc on numerous errors assigned; and was decided this morning; Wood, Chief Justice, pronouncing what was understood to be the unanimous opinion of the Court upon the following points:

The Court held: I. That a juror could not be withdrawn by consent, in a criminal case, and the trial proceed; and therefore, there was error in the proceedings below.

2. That Henderson, being a Justice of the Peace, act.

2. That Henderson, being a Justice of the Peace, acted in a judicial capacity, and had jurisdiction in the case of an escaping slave; and consequently, his proceedings could not be called in question, for not acting in good faith, as he would be protected by the doctrine of judicial immunity.

3. That in consequence of this judicial immunity he would not be liable to an indictment but could be called in question only by impeachment.

The judgment of the Common Pleas was therefore reversed, and it is understood that the Attorney General will order the discharge of the prisoner, as the Court have so settled all the legal principles of dispute in his favor.

The foreign advices by Hibernia caused a great deal excitement among our merchants, and 'Change has seldom been so fully attended, or exhibited so much animation. When first received, the statements in relation to breadstuffs were taken with great caution, the anticipations of dealers. But the report for the news-papers being confirmatory of the private messages, the market became firm at 629 275 cts. per bbl. advance for Flour, and 12 cts. advance per bush, for Corn. The quotation, 37s. 238s. in bond, for Flour at Liverpool. show an improvement there of 5s 26s, equal to about $1 37g per bbl, netting about $7 25 for Flour here. The shippers of Corn will make immense profits as the price here has been kept down by the general belief hat high prices could not be sustained on the other side. On the contrary, quotations have gone still higher, and some shippers will quite double their money. The given great animation to leading articles of produce, and still more would have been produced had the letter mail been received. Very seldom has com-mercial news been received of so much importance and mercial news been received of so much importance and value to this country. The rise in Cotton on the other side is about 13 ets. which is fully equal to what was looked for by the less sanguine operators, and this ad-vance on the stock yet in this country will make an in-mense aggregate added to the property of the country. The original charter of the Bank saddled it with a Canal, which it was obliged ginal capital of $4,000,000, without any corresponding advantage. It then suffered in common with all other banks, to a most alarming extent, by the almost entire prostration of commercial affairs and the extensive prostration of commercial affairs and the extensive bankruptcies from 1837 to 1842, and it was only through great individual exertion and a large aid from private funds, that it was enabled to comply with the law for the resumption of specie payments, and such was the situation of the Bank, that it applied to the Legislature to reduce their capital one half, making the shares fifty instead of one hundred dollars, as in the annual statement of 31st December, 1842, the estimated value of their assets was only thirty-seven dollars per share, and now at the end of four years, by judicious settlements, good management of their real estate and an active and and profitable business, the Bank is in the soundest condition and in the highest credit and full business. Their present assets are estimated at ninety dollars per share, with every prospect of an early resumption of dividends.

The hair is of the finest natural curl, and they fit the head in a manner that does away with the old and vexations method of covering the brow. Another advantage is, that the perspiration has no effect on them, as they are sewed and ventilated very carefully and secure.
